3 The Janus Aspen – Service Shares commenced operations on December 31, 1999. The returns shown reflect the historical performance of a different class of shares (the institutional shares) prior to December 31, 1999, restated based on the Service Shares' estimated fees and expenses (ignoring any fee and expense limitations). The percentages show the change in performance from year to year during the period indicated. The portfolios do not impose any sales or other charges that would affect performance computations. Each portfolio's past performance does not necessarily indicate how it will perform in the future.

Fund returns may have been achieved during favorable market conditions. There can be no assurance that the fund will continue to achieve a substantially similar performance as it previously experienced.

Higher potential return generally involves greater risk, and short-term volatility is not uncommon when investing in emerging markets. Risks for emerging markets include, for instance, risks relating to the relatively smaller size and lesser liquidity of these markets, high inflation rates and adverse political developments.

Higher potential return generally involves greater risk, and short-term volatility is not uncommon when investing in small and midsized companies. Risks for smaller companies include, for instance, business risks, significant stock price fluctuations and illiquidity.

Higher potential return generally involves greater risk, and short-term volatility is not uncommon when investing in a sector fund.

Investing in higher-yielding, lower-rated bonds has a greater risk of price fluctuation and loss of principal and income than U.S. government securities, such as U.S. Treasury bonds and bills. Treasuries are guaranteed by the government for repayment of principal and interest if held to maturity. Investors should carefully assess the risk associated with an investment in the fund.

Government securities offer a high degree of safety and are guaranteed as to the timely payment of principal and interest if held to maturity. Fund shares are not insured, and their value and yield will vary with market conditions.

Returns may be higher or lower than the performance stated due to recent stock market volatility.

Past performance is no guarantee of future results. An investor's units may be worth more or less than the original amount invested when redeemed. An investment in the VALIC Company I – Money Market I Fund is not insured or guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or any other government agency. Although the Fund seeks to preserve the value of your investment at $1 per share, it is possible to lose money by investing in the Fund. International fund unit values and returns will fluctuate with market conditions, currencies and economic and political climates where investments are made.
